

Values and Aims Statement for Pupils

Educating: You should learn at school. Your learning should be fun but also a little bit hard. All of your learning is important and should be celebrated.

We will help you to develop the skills you need to be successful as adults.

Enabling: You should learn how to communicate with other people in a way that you understand. We will give you the right amount of help so you learn how to do things safely by yourself so you get better at the things you are good at and at the things you find hard.

Evolving: Staff should talk to your family, and to other people who work with you, to know the best way to help you learn. We will always think about how we help you to learn and improve things if we need to.
